Property Description

Hugging the green slopes of a gorgeous part of Tres Rios, the house and surrounding property present an outstanding offer. The house is elevated above all other properties in the area, which makes it very private and at the same time grants unbroken mountain, jungle, pasture and ocean views in every direction. Inside, the house will surprise you with its spaciousness, open plan design, and so many options for adding your personal touch – including the potential to extend this “little house on the hill”. All of the views are spectacular, and present unique glimpses only visible from very few other properties. Here, you get the whole package – mountains, jungle, and ocean views are all around you. In the foreground are the jungle covered Tres Rios hills, framing the back and sides of the property. Below the hills the jungle mingles with green pastures. Looking towards the horizon, you will glimpse the vast mangrove forests and clearly see the mouth of the Terraba River, which separates the mainland from Isla Garza.
